Veterans' post celebrates golden anniversary

A Chateaubriand dinner will be served Saturday night, December 14, as members and guests gather in the West Sacramento VFW Hall to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of West Sacramento Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Ladies Auxiliary.

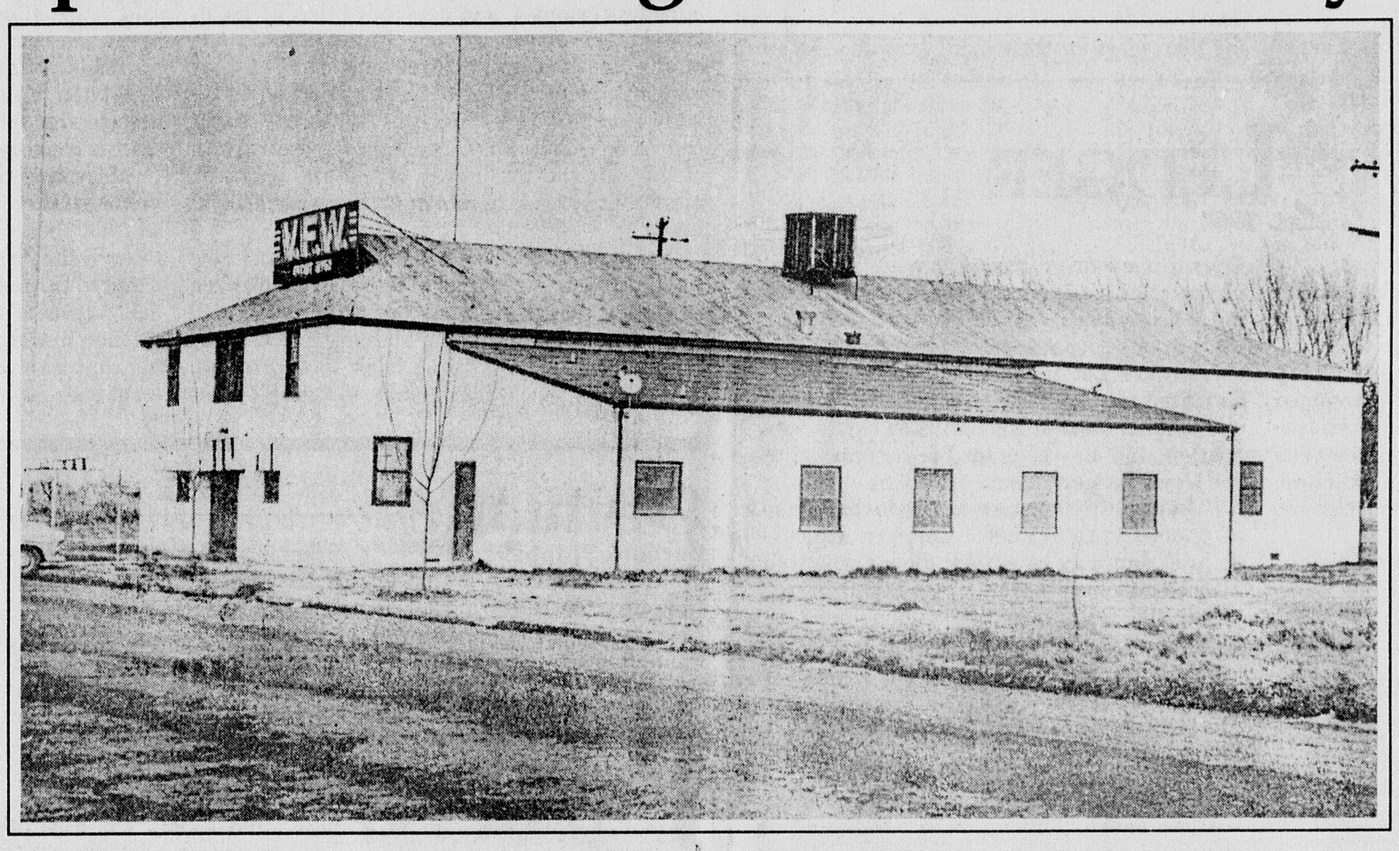
Charter members of both the post and auxiliary are in charge of arrangements for the birthday celebration. Cocktails will be from 5 to 6 p.m. Program and dinner 6 to 8 p.m.

Starting with about 28 members, the post was chartered December 14, 1945, and the Ladies Auxiliary was officially organized at the same time.

Robert Lukins is the current Commander of the Post, which has 276 members, including life members. Bernice Gwinn is in her third term as president of the auxiliary.

The veterans' post moved into its permanent home, a former Army recreation hall from Camp Beale, to 905 Drever Street in 1948. Commander Lukins was the engineer on the building project in 1948.

In addition to providing a meeting place for the post and auxiliary, the West Sacramento VFW Hall has, for many years, served as a center for the community's fraternal organizations, for church meetings and social functions.



VACANT FIELDS surround VFW Post 8762 in West Sacramento, in this picture taken by the News-Ledger in 1966 as the institution prepared to celebrate its 20th anniversary. A remodeled exterior and more neighbors are among the changes that have taken place as the veterans' post approaches its half-century mark.

The 1996-1997 post officers, in addition to Lukins , are Gary McReynolds, senior vice commander; Gary Reason, junior vice commander; Ray Van Alstyne, quartermaster; Bert Howard, chaplain; Minoru Ohye, post advocate and adjutant; High King, surgeon; one-year trustee, Jim Boswell; two-year trustee, George Newhall; and three-year trustee, John Combs.

Serving with president Gwinn this year are senior vice president, Sue McMillan; junior vice president, Delphine Hatfield; treasurer, Helen Newhall; chaplain, Jean Jones; conductress, Lillian Sembach; guard, Helen McFarland; secretary, Marion Rutkauskas; one-year trustee, Pat Kunde; two-year trustee, Eva Boylan; three-year trustee, Lucille Schlie; patriotic instructor, Edi Clonce.

City's holiday tree to be lit this Friday

The annual West Sacramento Christmas Tree Lighting ceremonies begin at 5:30 p.m. on Friday, December 6, at the corner of West Capitol Avenue and Jefferson Blvd.

Join Santa and his helpers, including Mayor Bill Kristoff and Chamber of Commerce president, John Davis, as they push the lever to turn on the lights of West Sacramento's Christmas Tree. The event is being coordinated by local resident and community activist, Jeff Henry. Henry has purchased the tree from Riverside Christmas Tree Farms in West Sacramento. Kelley Display has, once again, donated the decorations and light and the personnel to decorate the tree.

"I supplied the tree because the (living) one in front of Blockbuster Video got cut down," said Henry.

The tree at that location blocked business signs, he added.

The new public Christmas tree will be at the southeast corner of the same intersection, close to the La Bou shopping center.

A tree stand has been built by Lou Arges of the Pipe King, Henry added.

Still unknown is who will draw the honor of riding the fire truck ladder to place the traditional Christian angel on top of the tree.

After the ceremonies, spectators may walk across the street to the business offices next to Wells Fargo Bank and share in the Chamber of Commerce's goodies and fun in the West Sacramento Land Company office complex, 834 Jefferson Blvd.

For more information, call event chair, Jeff Henry, at 991-7200, or the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce at 371-7042.

Construction continues on what will be West Sacto's largest employer

Construction of the city's soon-to-be-largest building continues on schedule. Within the last several weeks the building shell for The Money Store's West Sacramento corporate offices became visible. Rising up from the west bank of the Sacramento River, the steel structure is approximately four stories high and will ascend at a rate of about a story a week until the structure "tops out" at ten stories in January.

In addition to steel framing, The Money Store site is literally banging with activity as more

Holiday food & toy drive will help many

By Steve Marschke

A vast network of local volunteers expects to feed somewhere around a thousand families a holiday meal for Christmas.

The West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project served up baskets of holiday food -- including a chicken or turkey with a lot of trimmings -- for take-home preparation by about 900 families, adding up to around 3,000 people.

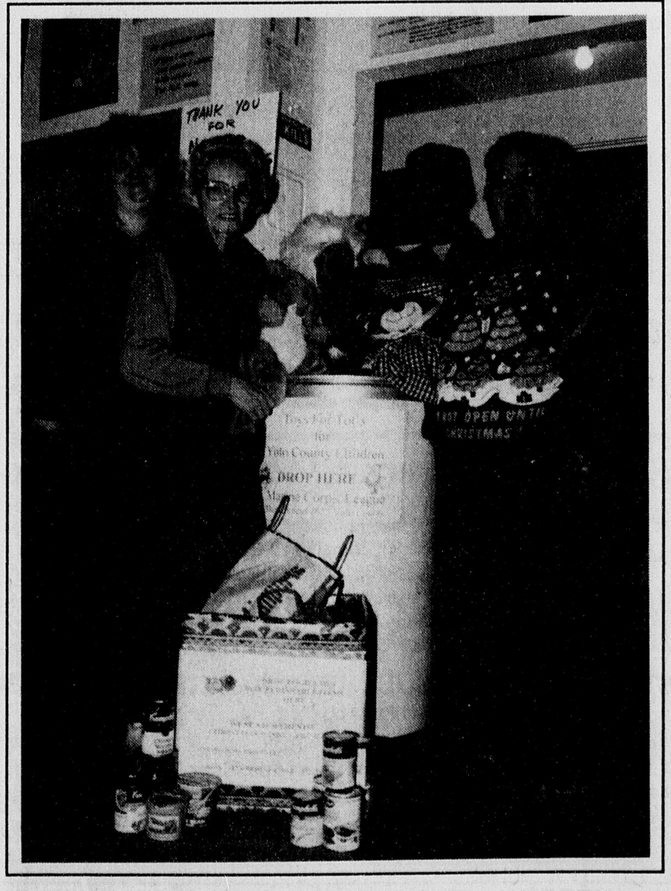
"We're shooting for a thousand families this year," said chairperson Helena Helmold.

This year's baskets will include poultry, bread, rice "and hopefully stuffing -- if people send us enough stuffing," said Helmold.

A special basket with canned meat instead of fresh poultry is provided to homeless guests of the program, to accommodate their lack of cooking facilities.

Volunteer Carole Bryant added that community members may still join the many individuals, churches, businesses and service organizations in contributing to the program's food banks.

"They can drop it off here," she said of the operation's Merkley Ave. headquarters.



MELONE CURRY, HELENA HELMOLD, BILL WARDEN and CAROLE BRYANT, all volunteers for the West Sacramento Christmas Basket Project, surround a small portion of the food and gifts donated by West Sacramentans

"And we do have people to pick donations up if needed. We can use lots of canned food, veggies, fruits and baby food."

In conjunction with the Christmas Basket Project is a holiday toy drive for children. All toys collected by the marines' Toys for Tots program in the city, including on Yolo County buses within West Sacramento, will go to the Christmas Basket Project for distribution.

Signups for food and toy recipients are being held through Dec. 16, Monday through Friday from 10 to 4

Chamber of Commerce may seek to increase outreach to local schools

New officers of the West Sacramento Chamber of Commerce will go on a retreat Jan. 9 to figure their goals and methods for 1997, the chamber's top staff member said Tuesday.

"We're going to decide what we're focusing on in 1997 and on our five year plan and how to get there," said Steve Roberts, executive director.

The organization will be led by incoming president Jim Repace for the next year.

"He really wants us to get back into the business of working with the schools in a big way," reported Roberts. "We still do the adopt-a-school program and that's great, but Jim wants us to get involved in working with the kids from the schools to careers."

Other goals may be set with input solicited from some of the organization's 375-or-so members, who filled out a questionnaire on priorities.

"Most of the ideas were basically 'helps'," said Roberts. "They said we should help our riverfront, help bring quality development to Lighthouse, help non-profit organizations raise money, help business expansion and retention, help in marketing the community and help keep business owners informed of legislation affecting business."

Local kids share stage in 'Nutcracker'

Seven West Sacramento children will participate in the annual Sacramento Ballet production of "The Nutcracker" at the Sacramento Community Center Theater from Dec. 6 to Dec. 22.

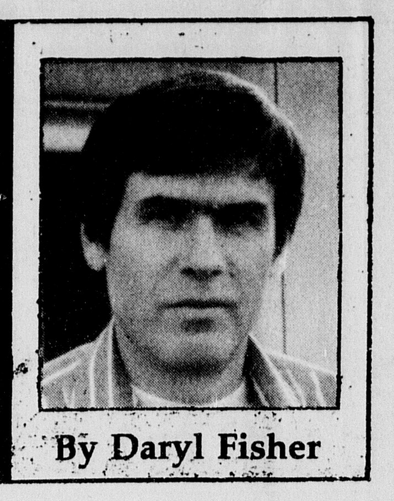
Locals are Kelly Kohn and Danielle Graves, who play cherubs; Brittany Soto, a doll; Tracey L. Freeman, Prologue Girl; Luis Duarte, a soldier; Jillian Massie, a cook; and Callie Beebe, a reindeer.

The production boasts new costumes and special effects (a "magic Christmas tree") this year.

Opening night tickets are $12.

Other ticket prices range from $9 to $32, and are available by calling the Sacramento Ballet at 552-5800; the Community Center Box Office, 264-5181; or BASS outlets, 923-BASS.

Fate is a human matter, to be settled among men



Daryl Fisher took this week off to visit Casablanca "for the waters." He telegrams us that he was "misinformed."

Fortunately, he left us with a favorite column of his to reprint:

For those of you who recall your ancient Greek mythology, you will remember that there was once a place called Mount Olympus where all the great gods lived. According to the Greek poets, the king of the gods was Zeus (or Jupiter) and his queen was a lady named Hera (or Juno), who also happened to be his sister, which was apparently permitted back then. Some of the other gods who had the right to hang out on the mountain top were Apollo (the sun god), Venus (who was in charge of love and beauty), Neptune (the ocean), Mars (war), and Mercury (messages). Among the subordinate deities were Ceres (agriculture), Minerva (wisdom), Vesta (home life), Iris (rainbows), Hebe (the goddess of youth), Eileithyia (who helped women in childbirth), Hypnos (sleep), and Vulcan (blacksmiths, and the only one who had a death grip to go along with his thunderbolt).

Anyway, there was once a great king of Corinth who went by the extremely hard to pronounce name of Sisyphus. He was said to be the most intelligent and tricky of men, and his schemes even puzzled the ancient gods. He boldly stole their secrets, absolutely refused to be panicked by their admonitions, and showed an alarming disrespect for their many powers. His scorn of the gods, his lack of fear of death, and his passion for life made him, as it has made other like-minded men and women down through the ages, a very dangerous individual indeed.

Sisyphus, however, finally got in a little over his head when he tried to stop Zeus from kidnaping a woman he was celestially interested in, and Zeus immediately sent Death to punish him. But being the ingenious guy he was, Sisyphus somehow tricked Death and tied him up with chains -- no easy feat. Not only did this greatly benefit Sisyphus, but it was said that no other man died while Death was bound.

Pluto (the god of the Lower World) got wind of this through Mercury (who was always passing gossip back and forth) and he sent Mars (the god of war) to free Death and give him complete power over Sisyphus. As you might suspect, it wasn't long before Sisyphus found himself good and dead and living (that's probably the wrong word) in the Lower World. Sisyphus immediately, and quite bitterly, complained about all of this to Pluto, especially that his wife had not performed the proper burial ceremonies, and demanded that he be allowed to return to the living. Pluto, who was one of the really early chauvinists, agreed that Sisyphus' wife needed to be chastised and foolishly gave in and let him go. But as one might expect, once Sisyphus began enjoying the warmth of the sun and the beauty of the sea again, he absolutely refused to return to the world of darkness.

Years later, with a decree from the gods in his hand, Mercury was sent to fetch Sisyphus back to Hades, where everyone but Sisyphus agreed he belonged. Using force, Mercury successfully managed to get Sisyphus back underground, where Pluto, who was extremely ticked off by this point, condemned Sisyphus to ceaselessly roll a huge stone to the top of a high hill, where the stone would inevitably run into the full force of gravity and fall back of its own weight, the idea being that there is no greater punishment than endless, futile labor.

Regardless of how poorly I recall my Greek mythology, it seems to me that there is much to be learned from this wonderful old myth. To begin with, I'm reminded to pick my tasks on this earth very carefully, because even while we're playing by all the rules and raking in the monthly paychecks, there's always the nagging possibility that we might just be spending most of our lives accomplishing nothing; secondly, that although there is always a price to pay for gleefully jerking the gods around, "there is no fate that cannot be surmounted by scorn"; and finally, that regardless of the joys and passions of this life, one must always return to his or her burdens.

When I think of Sisyphus, I also think of all the neat memories that must have filled his mind as he made his way back down the hill. As Camus said, "At that subtle moment when man glances backward over his life -- Sisyphus returning toward his rock -- in that slight pivoting he contemplates the series of unrelated actions which becomes his fate, created by him, combined under his memory's eye and sealed by his death."

Sisyphus understood that fate is actually a human matter, which must be settled among men, and not gods. He also knew that life belongs to those willing to take a few chances, and he even dared to tie up Death and ask for a furlough from hell. Maybe if more of us could find it in ourselves to follow his example from time to time, even knowing that the rock may await us, at least our descent back down the hill will take place in joy.

Obituaries

Barbara Phipps

Barbara B. Phipps died on Nov. 25, 1996, after a brief illness, at the age of 86. She was the loving mother of Barry L., Brian F., and Bernal R. Phipps; the dear mother-in-law of Mary Lou and Luz, cherished grandmother of Cynthia and Rose; grandmother-in-law of Shawn Blume; and great-grandmother of Jestin and Casey. She was preceded in death by her husband, Barney L. Phipps, in 1975.

A vigorous, warm and self-reliant woman, she was always loyal to family, colleagues and friends, and active in charitable causes.

For more than 25 years, she was a devoted elementary school teacher in Broderick and West Sacramento, after having taught in Truckee and in the Indian Service in New Mexico. She was Past Matron, Delta Star Chapter, OES, West Sacramento.

In lieu of flowers, donations in Barbara's memory may be made to the J. Clifford Lee Cancer Fund, c/o Colette Mahurin, 1404 Sebastian Way, Sacramento, CA 95684.

An informal remembrance will be held at the family residence on Sunday, Dec. 8, between 1 and 4 p.m. For information, call 371-4363.

Interment will be at Mountain View Cemetery, Oakland.

Arrangements are by the River Cities Funeral Chapel.

Local sailor returns from duty in Middle East

Navy Seaman Frank J. Lavorico, son of Raymond and Constance Lavorico of West Sacramento, recently returned from a six-month deployment to the Middle East aboard the guided missile destroyer USS Laboon.

Lavorico was one of 323 sailors aboard the ship who departed from their home port of Norfolk, Va., in May, to enforce the no-fly zone over Southern Iraq and to perform maritime interception operations in the area that supported a NATO embargo against Iraq.

In October, Lavorico's ship was the first of the U.S. Navy ships to fire Tomahawk cruise missiles against Iraq during Operation Desert Strike, striking military targets such as Iraqi air defense sites, and command and control facilities.

The 1994 graduate of River City High School joined the Navy in February 1995.

SPORTS

The Sports Insider

By Richard Novoa

The 49ers (10-3) had to show a national Monday night audience that they are a force in the NFL, by beating up the Atlanta Falcons, 34-10. The 49ers lead by Steve Young and a tough defense the Niners head home on top the Western Division, but must prepare for the big show down with the Carolina Panthers (9-4). The winner of this game wins the division title and locks up a spot in the playoffs.

The Panthers beat the 49ers in Carolina 23-7 in the third game of the season. The Panthers defense allows an average of 17 points a game. The 49ers are starting to get the offense healthy and Young looks better than ever running the team. The last time these two teams played the 49ers were missing starting fullback William Floyd and halfback Terry Kirby. That will be the difference in this game because both defenses are tough but the experience of Floyd, who is one of the best blockers in the NFL, will help the Niners walk away with a victory!

49ers 28 - Carolina 9

The Raiders (6-7) won a close game last Sunday, beating the Miami Dolphins 17-7. The Raiders are still alive for that last wildcard spot in the AFC. The Raiders must beat the Kansas City Chiefs at home next Monday night to remain in the hunt. The Raiders defense hounded Dan Marino into throwing three interceptions and their two fumbles help the Raiders survive for another week. Last year the Raiders needed to win just one game to get into the playoffs after starting out the second half of the season with 8-2 record. This year they can't lose any more games or they will be eliminated from playoff contention. That's why the Raiders, who are favored by two points, will win on Monday, because their season was supposed to be over with when they lost to Denver a few weeks ago!! The Raiders will use every trick in the book (and foul) because they have nothing to lose!

Raiders 24 - Chiefs 17

The Denver Broncos (12-1) have locked up the only playoff spot in the NFL and they have the home field advantage throughout the playoffs. The road to the Superbowl will travel through Denver! There are 22 teams left in the NFL hunt for Superbowl XXXI in New Orleans on January 26, 1997.

In the AFC East the 9-4 Patriots, Steelers and Bills can wrap up a playoff spot with victories and help from other teams losing. The Chargers, Chiefs, Oilers, Jaguars, Colts, Dolphins and Raiders will fight for the last two spots.

In the NFC East the 8-5 Cowboys, Eagles and Redskins will have to go to the wire to see who wins the East title. Green Bay (10-3) can lock a spot and Division title with a victory over Denver or a loss by Minnesota (7-6). The Vikings, Lions (5-8), and Bears (5-8) are long shots to make the playoffs.

The Sacramento Kings (5-12) return from an ugly road trip to host the Phoenix Suns (1-14) on Friday night with an early 5 p.m. start time for a national televised game on TNT.

See ya next week!

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Spare change?

One of the good things about this time of year is the spirit of giving.

This can take the form of personal gifts to loved ones or of anonymous gifts to anonymous strangers, but either way, it warms the insides of giver and receiver alike.

West Sacramento doesn't slouch from giving.

The local West Sacramento Resource Center hosted Thanksgiving for the needy last week and plans another holiday dinner for Christmas.

The city's largest and most ambitious giving effort of the entire year is the annual "Christmas Basket Project," which provides several thousand people with a festive and nutritious meal they otherwise might not be able to afford.

Organized by churches, the chamber of commerce, local businesses and scores of individuals, it's easy to find a way to participate in this project.

But if the "Christmas Basket Project" isn't your cup of winter tea, there are plenty of other ways to help others. From dropping a coin in the bucket of Salvation Army's Santa to sending a check to your favorite charity or spending an hour making the residents of a convalescent home feel special, the ways to give are as many as we are, and they don't depend on faith, race or money.

As we roll away from America's annual holiday to celebrate its blessings, it's as good a time as any to flex that giving muscle a little and spread some of those blessings.

Help the shelter

The holidays are a time when we reconnect with family and friends, near and far, to share treasured memories and the joys of the year. It is time of renewed hope.

I would like to ask you to remember the families in Yolo County who will be spending this holiday season in a different "home" -- the Harper House shelter for battered women and their children. For most of these families, it will be their first holiday free of violence.

Over the past year the Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence Center has provided crisis intervention, safe shelter, counseling and education to more that 2,500 residents of our county.

Help bring the warmth of the season to the women and children who will be spending the holidays at Harper House. Please join me in helping to create a lasting memory for them of the generosity and caring nature of our community. Here are some ways you can help:

Grocery store gift certificates: ($10-$26) from any major supermarket chain.

Canned Foods: tuna, soups, peanut butter, fruits, vegetables. Frozen foods: ground meat, hotdogs, chicken, turkey, vegetables.

Gifts: New toys (non-violent). Please put them in gift bags, so staff can assign them to the children. For adults: journals, bubble bath, candies, department store gift certificates.

Cash contributions to the center will guarantee food and shelter for battered women throughout the coming year.

If you would like to help, please call the center at 661-6336. Please make checks payable to SADVAC and mail to the Sexual Assault & Domestic Violence Center at 927A Main Street, Woodland, 95695.

Thank you for caring and giving hope.

BETSY A. MARCHAND
District Four Supervisor

(Editor's note: Harper House, which serves Yolo County, is located at an unpublicized location in West Sacramento.)

With thanks

With warmest appreciation and thanks to all who supported us with their prayers, thoughts and acts of kindness during this difficult time. We know that both Ernie and Hilda had many wonderful friends who, like us, will forever miss them. We will never forget your generosity.

Again, thank you.

Hosting Sac's sewage

Last week's inadvertently shortened "Lighthouse" letter/editor should have begun, "It appears to this writer that...On November 20 our West Sac City Council WILL GIVE Lighthouse the green light to become a gated community with public pedestrian access...The item was continued to a later date, but with public input closed and the discussion APPEARING to favor Lighthouse's request to be gated and "protected from the rest of West Sac," this writer had the mistaken belief that Lighthouse's request was all but formally approved. I have been corrected and I apologize for jumping the gun. Time will tell us the ultimate outcome.

The rest of the letter discussed whether we should continue discussing with Sacramento the talks of piping our sewage south and across the Sacramento River to the Elk Grove sewage treatment plant, where it is said that they have more than the capacity to treat same...But now Sacramento insists that sewage from their Natomas area be re-routed through West Sac lines BEFORE SACRAMENTO WILL ALLOW TALKS TO GO ANY FURTHER! Such a clause in the contract could save the Capital City as much as 80 percent of the costs of enlarging their lines, since running the larger line down our side would be on mostly unimproved land.

Among the hazards of losing local control would be the potential of our big neighbor causing a disproportionate amount of sewage to flow our way during times both sides are competing for new development. And, of course, during those time, Sacramento's present lines could APPEAR to being used to only (say) 20 percent of capacity. Whether an "audit" to detect same could be effective probably depends upon if the audit is unannounced. And if Sacramento is not willing to allow a Southport-Sacramento bridge north of Florin Road and allow YoloBus service to/from Sacramento International Airport, let's just forget about any Elk Grove options and either enlarge our present plant or supplement it with one of the several options for a Southport area plant. Such a plant could (and should) be planned for extra capacity so that we may still strike a deal to handle the Natomas' sewage in exchange for a bridge and airport bus service, thus maintaining local control of sewage treatment capacity and being able to more effectively compete for major construction projects with Sacramento.

At first, it seemed that it was either the Gregory Avenue alternative or Elk Grove only, but since we now know we have at least three other Southport (or somehow) enlarge present plant, let's just go back to our drawing board and peacefully (?) discuss local options and move forward.

WILLIAM A. LOWELL

(The News-Ledger apologizes to Mr. Lowell for clipping his letter off at the knees last week. Ed.)

More on wastewater

At the recent public forum on how to meet the current and future needs of our community for wastewater treatment, there was one voice that, for me, spoke to a rational choice among the choices for locations and governance. The question asked was: "What do the professionals recommend will be the efficient and effective solution: one of locations for the treatment plant in West Sacramento or to go regional and join the Sacramento system?"

The staff is still in the process of evaluating such items as cost (long-term and short-term), positive and negative impacts on the residents' rates and flexibility of service.

Some have already put their feet in concrete and, thrusting cost and effectiveness aside, seek "local control." These same individuals tend to belittle and ridicule the work of the "local" system now in place. For those of us who remember that we turned down the opportunity, when the present plant was built, to join Sacramento's system, hope that we won't repeat the mistake, just so we have people who live in West Sacramento governing the plant.

The staff and the consultants are to be commended for their study and efforts to keep us informed.

As one individual, I join the questioner at the public forum in asking, when the study is completed, what do you, the professionals, recommend? There will be problems for there is something intrinsically flawed in polluting (i.e., discharging effluent in our rivers) and unpredictable consequences in any solution. It will be unfortunate if we settle for less than the best in terms of cost, efficiency and effectiveness.

It is my belief that whatever solution is effective and efficient for resident swill prove to be fair to all users including the commercial and industrial.

Sacrificial lamb?

Deregulation of utilities will effect the decision on the water and sewer rates and the rates may be kept low. It was previously a determining criteria to be used when we evaluate Regional Wastewater Hook-up decisions or to build our own plant. When council was reminded, Mayor Bill Kristoff agreed because he has been present at meetings and has heard the point being discussed. But trying to get West Sacramento fair representation in regional decisions and impacts will be a fight all the way.

Now, if you were in the filled council room 11/25/96, you heard mostly Southport people, and rightly so, complain about "their" plight against potential impacts. Even though Broderick, Bryte and Meadowdale were represented, the fixed income people who will be hurt most were silent -- and the majority of our population is one the east side of the port.

Remember for the future:

1) Utility deregulation may lower our rates;

2) Only Southport needs hook-up;

3) Established areas should not pay for the needs of new development;

4) Sacramento and Natomas inadequacies are not our responsibility and we should not martyr our own development potential to solve their problems;

5) Sacramento's regional wastewater regulations allow more pollutants than our city, (so again, our water quality will begin to smell, but this time, it will stink with the politics of Sacramento);

6) You may get a charge added to your tax bill for the construction costs, but that will be a hidden surprise, to make it look like rates aren't so high.

Eight against one -- worse than the Port Commission's ratio for representation. And look what that gets us -- nothing. Sacramento will develop its interests, and to heck with us and Yolo. Less power than the bottom of a dog pile.

Legal documents for our hook-up will be decided "after" the process is started, if that gives you an idea about integrity or regional decisions. The consultant was perplexed that we should even want more information and legal language, to protect ourselves, but then he has other dealings with the regional board, so what do you expect? And there were plenty of orchestrated comments about "why would we want any control?" Incorporation was for better and fair representation -- not because we are too lazy to think for ourselves.

Regional hook-up gives reduced rates for industrial while the non-polluting public gets the hike. Ask people on the Sacramento side of the river what happened to their bills after they went regional. The rates went up.

I am not against hook-up. But only if we get plenty of money, legal guarantees, development guarantees, highest permit priority, water quality guarantees, and other things and the money to do it.

CLEARLY...Regional only wins cures for hooking up through us. We do not need to hook-up ever. Building our own plant will keep our rates down and allow us to develop. There is a section of Southport that will be impacted but that can be minimized or we can use the old site and upgrade for the future.

There are ALTERNATIVES for us. There are very FEW for Natomas and Sacramento. Already they have demanded that Natomas be part of the deal. But they are only paying impact on raw ground. That raw ground will be quickly and greatly developed and cause our development to take a back seat.

Bias on all sides of the information given and how it will affect us, so ask if we benefit and how much. Are we the sacrificial lamb for the region again? Stay tuned.

State joins local police & schools in anti-drug effort

From the Washington Unified School District

Washington Unified School District, in partnership with the City of West Sacramento Police Department, has been awarded a second three-year Drug Suppression in Schools grant from the Office of Criminal Justice Planning, State of California.

This program encourages and strengthens school and law enforcement partnership efforts by providing a wide range or prevention, suppression and intervention services to reduce the abuse of alcohol and other drugs and its devastating impact on children's lives.

All schools in the District will be participating in this program. In addition to prevention education activities in grades 4 to 7 and in grade 10 by Community Service Officer Nora McGowan, the Police Department will be involved in many new activities.

School Resource Officer Juan Barcenas is the designated enforcement officer for any violations that occur on school campuses relative to drugs and alcohol, crimes against persons, and attendance problems.

An Adopt a School program has already started with the Police Department's management staff. These officers participate in school activities at least once a month at their adopted schoolsite.

Patrol Officers will visit the schools in their patrol areas regularly so that students, parents and staff have the opportunity to know the officers assigned to their neighborhoods.

This partnership will work cooperatively on decreasing student curfew violations. The Police Department will assist the District with students who are found out of school during the school day by returning them to their school of attendance and/or contacting parents.

Parenting classes with child care available will continue to be offered each semester.

For further information regarding this program, contact Ruth Bowman at the District Office (375-7604, ext. 2245) or sergeant Rick Mayoral at the Police Department (372-2461).

Reduced-price meals available for children

The Broderick Christian Center's Child Development Program has announced sponsorship of the Child Care Food Program. All children in attendance will be offered the same meals at no separate charge with no physical segregation of or other discrimination against any child because of race, color, national origin, age, sex, or handicap. The program is available to all eligible participants, eligibility being determined by a sliding scale of gross income (weekly, monthly, or annually). For example, for a household size of two, a gross monthly income of $0 to $1,123 would qualify for free meals; for the same household size with a gross monthly income of between $1,124 and $1,598, participants would be eligible for reduced-priced meals, and so on. The scale does not apply to households that receive food stamp or FDPIR benefits or children who are recipients of AFDC, as those children are categorically eligible for free meal benefits.

For more information about eligibility and/or the program in general, please contact the Broderick Christian Center, located at 110 Sixth Street in West Sacramento, 95605.

Silent Honor. Danielle Steel. Delacorte Press.

In her thirty-eighth novel, the bestselling author of Malice, Five Days in Paris, and Vanished once again chronicles a woman's struggle to triumph over personal tragedy. Follow the young college student, Hiroko Takashimaya, as she leaves her native Japan in 1941 to attend college in California. Once at UC Berkeley, Hiroko must confront racial prejudice and her desire to return home. Her feelings only grow stronger once Pearl Harbor is bombed. She along with thousands of Japanese Americans are forced to abandon their homes, leave their occupations, and relinquish their freedoms as they are relocated to internment camps. Hiroko watches in horror as the American government betrays and dishonors its own citizens.

Star Wars: The New Rebellion. Kristine Kathryn Rusch. Bantam Books. 383 pages.

An unknown power with an unexplainable force terrorizes the galaxy and leaves millions dead. What is it? Where does it come from? Leia, head of the New Republic, prepares to address the Senate, but this power soon reaches Coruscant. Leia survives but many senators are killed, and those remaining either ask her to resign or blame Han Solo for the attack. Leia works to prove Han's innocence, while he investigates the plot to destroy the New Republic. Luke, in the meanwhile, searches for a former Jedi student linked to the deaths. Luke does not realize that he is being stalked by a "master of the dark side" whose intent is to kill him, Lei, her children, and billions of others. The galactic holocaust is about to begin.

Aunt chip and the Great Triple Creek Dam Affair. Patricia Polacco. Philomel Books. 36 pages.

Imagine a town where everyone watches so much television that they have forgotten how to read. In fact, imagine a town where people have no use for their books except to prop open a door or to plug a leaky dam. It is this startling fact that stirs Eli's Aunt Chip from her fifty-year slumber. For five long decades, Aunt Chip has remained asleep in protest of that newfangled contraption called television. Aunt Chip is determined to teach Eli to read but once she does, the townsfolk are fascinated by this skill and also want to learn how to read. One by one, books are pulled from the dam and soon the town of Triple Creek has more to fear than the television.

test piles are driven to determine the length and strength of the columns needed to support the parking garage. Foundation work on the garage will begin by the end of this month. Native oak trees have been saved to be replanted as part of the landscaping plan for the entire project. Once the steel frame is complete, construction can begin on the exterior of the building -- a facade of glass and stone -- which is expected to be complete by next summer.

The Money Store, one of the largest specialty finance lenders in the nation, broke ground in May for the 370,000 square foot structure. The ten-story building is the first modern project to be constructed on the West Sacramento river front and is part of approximately 945,000 square feet of office space planned for the 25-acre site known as Raley's Landing. Once occupied, The Money Store will be the city's largest employer, with 1,500 employees.

BASKETS

That's entertainment!

Charles DeMars and Stacy Goddard

"Holiday Tapestry" comes to the Hiram Johnson stage to entertain and dazzle Sacramento theater goers. Galena Street East is a talented group of performers from the Sacramento region. For 24 years, they have entertained the residents of the valley. These young people, ages 5 to 18, offer fresh, dynamic and professional performances in song and dance. West Sacramento members include Stacy Goddard, 13, and Charles DeMars, also 13. "Holiday Tapestry" presents the winter holidays from an international perspective from Europe to Asia to America.

"Holiday Tapestry" will expand your view of the world, and encourage an appreciation of cultural diversity during the holiday season. The International Children's Chorus performs in authentic cultural costumes. The East Street Cloggers brighten the stage with their energetic and colorful dancing. Allegro and East Street Gang, a spirited group of teenagers blending an impressive list of song and dance spanning the ages, round out the Galena Street performing groups...

This show is scheduled for December 13 at 7:30 p.m. and December 14 at 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $10 for general admission for the evening performances; $5 for seniors and students for evening performances and for all at the matinee. All performances are held at Hiram Johnson High School, 65th Street and 14th Avenue in Tahoe Park. For additional information or to order tickets, call 731-4090.

Police log

Nov. 30, 10:40 p.m.
An office stopped a local man for running his bicycle through a red light. A consent search turned up a substance that later tested positive for cocaine in the man's front pocket, and he was arrested.

Dec. 1, 10:40 p.m.
A 19-year old West Sacramento man was stopped for a vehicle code violation on Evergreen and Harbor. The man was on searchable probation, and a search revealed drug paraphernalia and amphetamines. The man was arrested.

Dec. 1, 11:55 p.m.
An officer observed a car driving "in both the northbound and southbound lanes" of South River Road. He stopped the car and learned through police dispatch that it was stolen. The 34-year old transient male driver was booked.

Property taxes coming due

Clyde K. Brooker, Yolo County Tax Collector, reminds taxpayers who own property in Yolo County that the first installment of 1996-97 Secured Property Tax is now due and payable.

Property taxes become delinquent if not paid by 5 p.m. on Tuesday, December 10, after which a ten percent penalty must be added. Envelopes must be postmarked no later than December 10, if taxes are paid by mail. It is suggested that payments be mailed a few days before the December 10 deadline to insure that the envelope will have the proper postmark.

Property owners who have not received a tax bill should contact the Tax Collector's Office immediately. Anyone having questions concerning their tax bill should contact the Tax Collector's Office in Room 102 of the Erwin W. Meier Administration Building in Woodland. The telephone number is 375-6486.

Local Scene

Craft Bazaar

Our Lady of Grace School is having it's annual Craft Bazaar and Santa Day on Saturday, December 7, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the school hall, located at 1920 Linden Road. Many local crafters will have their wares on display. There will be a Santa Store where children under 12 can purchase and wrap a gift for the adult on their list. Santa will visit with the children and pose for pictures from 12 to 3 p.m. A hot dog lunch, as well as cookies and punch, will be on sale. For information on renting a table, call Jeanette Keith at 371-2281, before November 29.

Help the Homeless

The Broderick Christian Center's Transitional Housing program is seeking organizations, businesses, and individuals to adopt homeless families for the rapidly approaching Christmas season. Families need food baskets, winter clothing, and toys for the children. The program has the ability to house 13 separate families with minor children at one time. The program provides case management and life skills classes to help the families reacquire a stable environment. To sponsor a homeless family, call the Broderick Christian Center at 372-0200 and ask for Delissa or Sharon.

W.S. Orchestra

The West Sacramento Community Orchestra will present two free concerts during the Christmas holidays. The first performance, a pops program featuring traditional Christmas music, will be given at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, December 13, inside Country Club Plaza Shopping Center, Watt and El Camino, in Sacramento. The second, which features trumpeter Tom Shorba in the Hummel Trumpet Concerto, and includes music of Claude Debussy and Hugh Stuart, will be presented Sunday, December 15, at 2:30 p.m. at the West Sacramento Senior Center, 664 Cummins Way in West Sacramento. Admission to both concerts is free. For more information, call 991-5262.

1987 Reunion

The River City High School Class of 1987 is in the process of locating members of the graduating class in preparation for their ten-year reunion, planned for Saturday, August 16, 1997. Please call Danya at 374-0940 if you have a current mailing address for yourself or a member of the class.

Bazaar

The Yolo Hospice/Clarksburg Library is sponsoring a bazaar on December 7 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the activity room of the Clarksburg Library, located on Netherlands Road in Clarksburg. The bazaar will include such things as toys, gifts, ornaments, t-shirts, sweatshirts, baskets, crafts, baked goods, jams and jellies, hot cider, fudge and candies, tamales, nachos, and other unique items. Stress-free shopping. Raffle drawing to benefit the library. Call Patty Merwin at 775-1553 or April Smith at 744-1206 for more information.

Christmas Party

A free Christmas party, complete with clown, Santa, gifts, stockings and refreshments, will be held at the Bryte V.F.W., 1708 Lisbon Street in West Sacramento, on December 15 at 2 p.m. Party is for children ages ten and under.

Office Hours

New West Sacramento City Councilmember Mark Montemayor has announced he will hold regular office hours from 3 to 5 p.m. at city hall. Members of the public are invited to meet with him at those times.

Abolition 2000

To plan support for "Abolition 2000," a meeting will be held in the Blanchard Room of the Yolo County Library, 315 East 14 Street in Davis, on Monday, December 9, at 7 p.m. Abolition 2000 is the global movement to eliminate nuclear weapons and rid the world of the threat of a nuclear war. Concerned persons in the Sacramento area are being sought to join the "Abolition 2000 Northern California" campaign. For more information, call Dorothy at 756-5010.

1972 Reunion

The James Marshall High School Class of 1972 has begun planing its 25-year reunion, scheduled for the weekend of August 23-25, 1997. The next reunion meeting will be held on Friday, December 6. The meeting will be held at the Goose Club, 3340 Jefferson Blvd., beginning at 7 p.m. There are still many decisions to be made, and all interested alumni are encouraged to attend. The JMHS Class of 1971 alumni are also invited to attend this meeting to discuss holding a joint reunion. For more information, please contact Judy at 372-8708 or Carol at 371-5420.

Kids' Christmas Party

Santa Claus is coming to the Elks! Bring your young ones (ten and under) to see Jolly Old Nick at a children's christmas party, scheduled for December 14 between 10 a.m. and 12 p.m. at BPOElks 2529, 1020 West Capitol Avenue in West Sacramento. McDonalds offers scholarships to Hispanics

Applications for the McDonald's/HACER national Hispanic scholarship program are now available at local high schools and McDonald's restaurants. Local Hispanic high school seniors who need financial assistance to attend college are encouraged to apply.

Created in 1985, HACER supports the efforts of Hispanic students pursuing a college degree. Since its creation, HACER has awarded more than $1.8 million to 1,800 high school seniors around the country. This year, ten $1,000 scholarships will be awarded to local students. A local review panel of educators and McDonald's representatives will select this year's recipients based on academic achievement and financial need.
